There are three faculties viz: Faculty of Medicine, Faculty of Ayurveda and Faculty of Dental Sciences and one College of Nursing under Institute of Medical Sciences. There are 44 Departments of broad specialties including eleven Super Specialties Departments, and 17 Departments in Faculty of Ayurveda. Sir Sunder Lal Hospital (S.S.H) attached to Institute of Medical Sciences has 1585 beds. BHU boasts of having a largest Trauma Centre in country with 334 beds. Both these hospitals provide comprehensive referral medical and surgical care to the people of this region.

Brief History of Ayurveda Education in BHU

The city of Varanasi has been an important center for Ayurveda learning since ancient times. Dhanwantari, who once happened to be the King of Varanasi, was himself a skillful surgeon who trained Sushruta in surgical skills. Sushruta, who practiced surgery in Varanasi and wrote an authoritative textbook on surgical techniques known as Sushruta Samhita, is believed to have lived in 6th century BC. Varanasi is also related historically to the life of Buddha. Buddha, who happens to have been referred to as a physician (Bhishako), delivered his first sermon in Sarnath, a place situated near Varanasi. Since these ancient times, Ayurveda was taught continuously in various 'Gharana's of Kashi.

Considering the continuity of traditional Ayurveda practice in Varanasi, Mahamana Madan Mohan Malaviya felt a need to incorporate Ayurveda education in Banaras Hindu University. He thought this step was essential to bring Ayurveda on the center stage in the national scenario. In 1922 the Ayurveda was introduced under the faculty of Oriental Learning and Theology of Banaras Hindu University, which was later upgraded to Ayurvedic College. Later, in 1924, Maharaja Sir Prabhu Narayan Singh ji of Banaras laid the foundation stone of the Ayurvedic Hospital. Malaviyaji himself had a profound knowledge innerved and therefore, he was nominated as the President of Ayurveda Maha Sammelana in 1926.

Another milestone in the Banaras Hindu University with respect to Ayurveda education was achieved; when father of the nation Mahatma Gandhi laid down the Foundation stone of the Ayurveda College in 1942 on the occasion of 25th convocation of BHU. In the year 1960 the Ayurvedic College was converted to the College of Medical Sciences with Professor K.N. Udupa as its founder principal. The post graduate Ayurveda education in BHU was started in 1963 with the inception of Postgraduate Institute of Indian Medicine. In the year 1970, this was merged with the Institute of Medical Sciences. In the year 1999, the undergraduate BAMS program was re-started in the Faculty of Ayurveda.

Present status of Ayurveda Education in BHU:

The Institute of Medical Sciences, Banaras Hindu University, happened to be a unique Institution that contains three faculties under a single umbrella: The Faculty of Medicine, the Faculty of Ayurveda, and the Faculty of Dental Sciences. Its aim is to promote synthesis of ancient wisdom and modern scientific temper in the field of medical sciences. The institute has facilities for undergraduate, postgraduate and super specialty courses under the Faculty of Medicine, under graduate and postgraduate courses in the Faculty of Dental Sciences, and under graduate and post graduate degree /diploma/certificate courses in the Faculty of Ayurveda. The Faculty of Ayurveda currently offers the following programs: BAMS, MD (Ay.)/ MS (Ay.), Ph.D., PG Diploma. Three programs, namely B. Pharma. (Ay.)(Self finance, Special course of study) and M.
